Emilie Dionne, Famed Quint, Dies

End Comes In Rest Home For Aged Persons

Stroke Believed Responsible For Shy Girl's Death

STE. AGATHE, Que., Aug. 6 —UP—Emilie Dionne, shyest of the famed quintuplets, died unexpectedly Friday in the Roman Catholic institution where she was serving a probationary period before becoming a nun. She was 20.

Members of the family said Emilie died after suffering three fainting spells Friday morning. She never revived after fainting the third time.

The cause of death was not established immediately. The coroner ordered an inquest to determine if death was from natural causes.

Olivia Dionne, father of the quints, said the other four girls born with Emilie "have taken it very badly."

"It's a terrible blow especially since we had so little warning," Dionne said at the family home near Callendar, Ont.

"They say a stroke caused her death," he added.

After the inquest, Emilies body will be taken to Callendar for burial Monday.

Though Emilie had suffered from fainting spells since she was three years old and was found wandering the streets of Montreal last month, her death was unexpected. She appeared to be in good health until after breakfast Friday morning at L'Accueuil Guay, a Catholic institution. She complained of not feeling well and returned to her room where she died about 10 a.m.

Emilie's 26-year-old sister, Rose-Marie Girouard, said the quintuplet had gone to the institution to serve a probationary period prior to becoming a nun. She said she had made application to join the order of the Oblate Sisters of Immaculate Mary.

Quints Guarded From Birth; Now Possess Fortune

STE. AGATHE, Que., Aug. 6 —UP—The sudden death Friday of little Emilie Dionne of the famous quintuplets, one of the world's most publicized groups, broke up a unique family association.

The 20-year-old quints, normally shy, had led a sheltered life to prevent them from being exploited.

The most famous multiple birth in history took place on May 28, 1934, near Corbeil, Ont. The quints were brought into the world by a country doctor, Allan Dafoe, in a poor, frame farmhouse. The simple, country doctor also gained international fame by keeping the five tiny girls alive in make-shift incubators.

Born in poverty, the girls now have trust funds in excess of a $1 million. They were made wards of the King and Queen of England and also the Canadian government in order to protect them from exploitation.

Only a few days after their famous birth, a group of Chicago men had offered $50,000 to the family to exhibit the children at the Chicago Worlds Fair.

The world waited breathlessly for terse bulletins from the simple farmhouse — "the 20-days-old Dionne quintuplets gained eight

Senate To Vote On Farm Bill At 5 P. M. Monday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —UP— The Senate agreed Friday to vote at 5 p.m. Monday on the politically hot farm price issue that has produced another long-winded debate.

Concerned by the speech-making which already has tied up the Senate for three days, Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) put across a debate-limiting motion starting Monday noon.

This will give the long list of senators still waiting to speak on the issue another full day in which to express their views. Then the talking will be limited to 2½ hours on each side of the explosive question.

The crucial Monday vote will come on a proposal by Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) to put five basic crops — cotton, corn, wheat, peanuts and rice — under a flexible support system ranging between 80 and 90 per cent of parity.

As it now stands, the bill provides for a one-year extension of rigid 90 per cent supports. This feature, opposed by the administration, is the most controversial provision in the bill.

Knowland obtained the unanimous consent necessary to limit debate after being blocked in an earlier attempt by Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N. D.), ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture committee.

Once the price support issue is settled, action is expected to follow quickly on some 20 other amendments. Many of them are minor and debate will be limited to two hours each, with three hours allotted for final speeches on the bill itself.

This means that final action should be taken by late Tuesday or Wednesday.

Both sides voiced new victory claims in the price support dispute Friday. Young said he believes his forces have recruited enough "switches" to beat the administration demand for flexible supports.

But Knowland said "if there are switches, they probably will be both ways." Aiken has predicted a 5 to 4 victory margin for flexible supports.

The other car involved in the wreck with the city patrol car was driven by G. S. Langford, a Tallulah school teacher. He was traveling east; the police vehicle was going east en route to the wreck further out Louisville.

The front end of the police car was smashed in. The Langford vehicle was badly bent on the left side.

The other wreck involved two cars occupied by out-of-state people. A middle-aged Alabama couple, traveling west, received minor lacerations. They were identified as Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tucker of Plateau, Ala.

The other car involved in the wreck with the Tuckers was occupied by a young Baltimore, Md. couple, neither injured. The Baltimore couple was identified as Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bransford.

The Tucker-Bransford crash occurred when Bransford attempted to turn in at a Louisville avenue tourist court.

U. S. Requisition Of Homes Protested

Mayor Of Bremerhaven Rescued From Rioters

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, Aug. 6 —UP—Truncheon-swinging riot squads rescued Bremerhaven's Mayor Helmann Gullasch Friday night from German householders, infuriated over U. S. Army requisitioning of their property for a housing project.

The lord mayor interrupted a vacation to visit the project following a demonstration Thursday, in which 5,000 shipyard workers routed police and officials they were escorting. The U. S. Army denounced the demonstration as Communist inspired.

When Gullasch appeared, he was surrounded by jeering householders, who forced him to flee to a long wooden hut where he locked himself in to escape the crowd's fury.

Four carloads of special "alert" police, rushed from nearby Bremen to reinforce local police, clubbed their way through the crowd and freed the lord mayor.

There were no serious casualties. A nine-year-old boy was hit with a truncheon in the stomach. Carried to the home of his parents, he quickly recovered.

Earlier, shipyard workers called off another planned demonstration "in order to avoid bloodshed."

A spokesman for the workers said they would take no further action unless efforts were made to remove by force the occupants of 29 houses the Army requisitioned.

"We have decided that no further action will be taken at present in order to avoid bloodshed," the spokesman said.

July Figures On Unemployment Very Encouraging

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Administration officials expressed encouragement today at a report showing that an expected increase in unemployment failed to develop in July. Employment held steady during the month, the report said.

Issued by the Commerce and Labor departments, the statistics placed civilian employment at 62,148,000 in July, or 50,000 more than in May but 972,000 less than the record level reached in July a year ago. There were about 2½ million more jobs in July than at last winter's low point.

Unemployment changed very little, declining by 1,000 from June to 3,346,000 in July. This was far less than President Eisenhower's chief economic adviser, Dr. Arthur Burns, had feared might happen. He had said seasonal expansion of the potential work force might drive the July jobless total beyond four million.

When a school or college student starts looking for a job in the summer he becomes part of the potential work force and is classed as unemployed until he finds work. However, if he does not seek work, he is not classed as unemployed.

Officials said one factor stabilizing the situation is that fewer students apparently sought jobs this summer. The generally tighter labor market is one reason advanced why many teen-agers might have decided against seeking work. Others delayed looking for jobs until July.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell, commenting on the July figures, said the employment situation remained "comparatively steady."

Ruston Woman Is Killed While Cleaning Closet

Shotgun Wound Is Fatal; Funeral For Mrs. Farmer Today

RUSTON, Aug. 6 (Special) — A 40-year-old Ruston housewife cleaning a closet in her home was apparently killed accidentally Friday morning when she brushed against a shotgun causing it to discharge.

Sheriff's officers who investigated the death of Mrs. Louise Farmer, said that death was accidental, resulting from a single wound in the chest.

The woman's body, slumped in the closet, was found around 9 A. M. by her husband, W. L. Farmer, when he returned to their Vienna Road home for breakfast. Examining officers said that death apparently occurred instantaneously. They set the time of the tragedy around 7:30 a.m.

According to officers, Farmer, who is employed by a wholesale grocery company, went to work, he said, around 4 A.M., as was his daily practice.

The couple's six-year-old son, Walter, who spent Thursday night at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farmer, who reside a short distance away, was not present at the time of the accident. There were no witnesses, officers said.

Mrs. Farmer, who was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Larson of Ruston, was a life-long resident of the city, a member of the First Baptist Church, and a graduate of Louisiana Tech.

Beside her husband and son, she is survived by a brother, Clarence Larson, Fort Worth, Texas, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Hodges, Geneva, Ala.

Funeral arrangements Friday night were incomplete, but tentative plans call for services at 3 P.M. Saturday in the chapel of Darby Funeral Home here.

McCarthy Plans Renewed Inquiry In Peress Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —UP— Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Friday he intends to reopen the "Peress case" and investigate 30 Army officers, including five generals, who had dealings with the "Fifth Amendment Communist."

The Wisconsin Republican said the officers were named by the Army as taking an "active" part in the promotion, change of duty orders and honorable discharge of former Maj. Irving Peress.

"I am curious to know why it took all these officers," McCarthy told reporters. "It shows it wasn't a routine matter."

He said it may prove too "tedious" to question all 30 of the officers and he might only call "some" of them before his Senate investigating subcommittee.

Peress is the former Army dentist who refused to tell McCarthy whether he was a Communist. McCarthy's efforts to find out who was "responsible" for giving Peress an honorable discharge helped touch off the stormy Army-McCarthy hearings.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens protested McCarthy's questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., where Peress was discharged. But he later gave the subcommittee a list of the officers involved.

McCarthy said Stevens gave the names of the officers but McCarthy did not release them. They included one four-star general, two major generals, two brigadier generals, three colonels, two lieutenant colonels and one major, McCarthy said.

He said he could not set a date for the new Peress hearings because of the impending hearings on a Senate resolution to censure McCarthy. He said he wanted to keep himself available for the special committee which will consider the resolution.

Defeated Candidate For Sheriff Captured After Killing Police Officer

LEXINGTON, Tenn., Aug. 6 —UP— A Korean veteran who lost his wife in an "Enoch Arden" case allegedly killed a policeman early Friday after he lost an election. He was captured 12 hours later by state troopers.

The embittered slaying suspect, James Cogburn, was found cowering in a ditch after he and two companions exchanged shots with state police who cornered them in a barn.

His brother, Roy Cogburn, was also captured after being wounded in the arm. The third gunman, as yet unidentified, was believed still hiding in the area. He may have been wounded, officers said.

From Nashville, Gov. Frank Clement had ordered all troopers in a 100-mile radius to converge on the Lexington area after the state patrol radio called for an ambulance and reinforcements.

The men were reported to have barricaded themselves in a barn with "at least two shotguns and plenty of ammunition." But they apparently slipped out singly as the troopers moved in.

Patrolman Arthur Gurley was shot to death and police Chief Clovis Stanfield critically wounded in a gun battle with Cogburn earlier at the Henderson county

Baton Rouge Man On New Board

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 6 (AP) — Gov. Robert Kennon has appointed Elton Murphy of Baton Rouge to the newly created State Commission of Federal Grants, the governor's office said today.

Murphy is in the insurance business and a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

The commission was established by the 1954 Legislature to serve as an advisory group to the state when it deals with federal grants in aid for projects affecting local communities.

The act authorized the governor to name one of five members, who include the president and vice president of the Louisiana Municipal Association, and the president and executive secretary of the Louisiana Police Jury Association.

Angola Convict Slain With Bat; 'Lifer' Accused

ANGOLA, La., Aug. 6 (AP)—Sheriff T. H. Martin said today a life term convict will be charged with murder in the baseball bat slaying of a fellow prisoner at the state penitentiary.

Dominque Dupree, 53, of New York City, sentenced to a year for theft in Calcasieu Parish, was found dead early today. His battered and bloody body was in his bed at Camp E. Prison records gave New York as his last home.

No motive was reported in the penitentiary investigation.

The West Feliciana Parish sheriff, after a day-long investigation, said when he returns to the parish seat at St. Francisville he will file murder charges against a convict he identified as William Maybin, 29, serving life for murder in Bossier Parish.

Maybin "won't talk," the sheriff added, but "we have witnesses."

The prisoner is confined in solitary and will remain at Angola pending the legal proceedings against him, the sheriff said.

Main clue was a blood-stained baseball bat found on the rear side of the wooden barracks where Dupree and some 175 other white convicts were quartered.

Prison warden Maurice Sigler said the 175 inmates were questioned, but he said "as usual, nobody knows nothing."

Dupree's skull was bashed in from "blow or blows with a blunt instrument," a coroner's jury ruled.

Sigler said the body was discovered about 3:30 a.m. by guards who went to rouse up the early kitchen detail.

"We have a pretty good idea who did the job," Sigler said. "The murderer was seen placing the bat behind the stairs."

Pair Held For 3 Hours, Then Given Freedom

State Department Protests Strongly To Russian Govt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — UP— The United States has "strongly protested" to Russia against the temporary detention by Soviet police of two members of the American embassy staff in Moscow, the State Department announced Friday night.

The Americans were arrested Wednesday afternoon and detained at a Moscow police station for three hours on charges "they were allegedly taking photographs of the Stalin auto works," the department said.

They were identified as Lt. (jg) Arthur R. Hasler, an assistant naval attache, and Miss Joyce Marshall, a translator on the embassy staff. Their home towns were not given.

The department said the U.S. embassy sent a note to the Soviet foreign office the day after the incident "strongly protesting the illegal detention" of the Americans.

It said the note requested that "disciplinary action be taken against the Soviet police officials concerned and that assurances be given against a repetition of such action."

Hasler and Miss Marshall were "in an unrestricted area on the outskirts of Moscow" when the police grabbed them, the department said.

"Their arrest was based on the charge that they were allegedly taking photographs of the Stalin auto works. Their cameras were taken from them and the films were confiscated.

"They refused to sign a document drawn up by the Soviet police regarding the incident and stated that their confiscated films would prove that they had not taken photographs of the Stalin auto works or any prohibited objects.

"They were finally released at the request of the embassy," the department said.

According to information received here, the lieutenant and Miss Marshall apparently were on a sightseeing tour of the Russian capital. Informants said neither was harmed or mistreated during the lengthy interrogation.

The American protest was said

Flood Victims In East Germany To Get U. S. Food

BERLIN, Aug. 6—UP—The Communists have accepted President Eisenhower's offer of food for East German flood victims in a sudden reversal of years-long policy against western aid to the Soviet sphere.

The U.S. high commission Friday announced East Germany's acceptance, with thanks and with the tacit permission of Russia. The Soviet high commission relayed the note to High Commissioner James B. Conant.

It was the first break in the Iron Curtain barrier against help from the West since it first was thrown up by Russia's abrupt rejection of the Marshall Plan after the war.

Mr. Eisenhower offered July 29 to send flood relief to East and West Germany, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Austria, and Yugoslavia. Disastrous floodwaters had swept into all those states, mainly from the swollen Danube.

The Reds replied promptly with their time-worn propaganda — that the President's offer was "infamous," that it was a plot to patch up the American espionage network, that if the U.S. wanted to help, it should reduce occupation costs and halt preparations for a new war.

They changed their tune Friday. Soviet High Commissioner G. M. Pushkin sent to Conant a letter from Premier Otto Grotewohl of East Germany. It said:

"The government of the German democratic republic thanks the President of the United States for the offer in his declaration of July 29, 1954, to lend assistance to the population of the German democratic republic.

"The government of the German democratic republic declares its readiness to accept this offer. In this connection it is assumed it will be possible to explore further the question of the forms of assistance and associated organizational measures."

Mr. Eisenhower had said that if the food relief program were accepted in its entirety it would cost the U.S. government about $4 million. He acted under the surplus disposal act signed only last month.

Senate Appropriations Committee Votes Increase In Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —UP— The Senate Appropriations committee voted Friday to provide $2,990,824,816 for new foreign aid spending this year, $365,488,565 more than approved by the House.

It also approved for military, economic and technical assistance the full $2,582,063,728 left over from previous appropriations. The House had voted only $2,312,475,979 (B).

The committee action came on a bill providing actual funds for the aid program. This measure carries $63,743,154 less than the compromise authorization of $3,054,568,000 approved by a House-Senate conference committee.

Congress handles appropriations in two bills, one authorizing the spending and the other, usually less, putting up the money for the program.

The money bill now goes to the Senate floor and then will follow the authorization bill into conference committee for adjustment of the House and Senate differences.

The bill provides a total of $1,392,700,000 in new military aid; $795,000,000 for Southeast Asia, the western Pacific and "direct forces support" programs; $431,098,195 for indirect "defense support"; $184,500,000 for economic aid in the Near East, Latin America and South Asia; $121,457,621 for so-called "Point Four" technical assistance, and $66,069,300 for miscellaneous other programs.

The bulk of the $2,582,083,728 in unspent funds comes from $2,539,283,000 in carryover military aid.

Under the committee bill, the Foreign Operations administration would have a total of $5,572,908,544 in new and unspent funds to carry on its world-wide aid operations into the fiscal year ending next June 30.

to have emphasized that the pair had not engaged in any illegal or unjustified activities. It also was said to have registered sharp objections to the fact that they were subjected to three hours of heavy grilling.

The State Department announced a month ago that Moscow had demanded the recall of two embassy attaches, Lt. Col. Howard L. Felchlin and Maj. Walter McKinney, for alleged improper activities in Russia.

The United States denied any wrongdoing by the two, and charged that the Soviet action was prompted by the earlier U. S. ouster of three Soviet diplomats from this country for "espionage and improper activities."

Legion Assails 1953 Handbook Of Girl Scouts

CHICAGO, Aug. 6—UP—The Illinois American Legion convention Friday adopted a resolution accusing the Girl Scouts of America of using the writings of "certain pro-Communist authors" in its 1953 hand-book as well as stressing "United Nations and one world citizenship."

The resolution was drafted by the Illinois Legion's anti-subversive committee.

It was taken before the state convention and approved by voice vote over the shouted objections of Lawrence J. Fenlon, Chicago attorney and former state Legion commander.

Fenlon said he has two daughters in the Girl Scouts.

"How screwy can we get?" he cried.

As adopted, the resolution said "the 1953 handbook of the Girl Scouts gives United Nations and one world citizenship precedence over American citizenship uses the written of certain pro-Communist authors."

The resolution also recommended withdrawal of all Legion support of the Girl Scouts until such time as the directors of the organization "give irrefutable proof to the American public that they have taken definite measures to eliminate these un-American influences from the Girl Scout handbook and publications."

The resolution did not list the pro-Communist authors" referred to but said they had been labeled as such by various "government agencies."

New Strike At A And H-Bomb Plants Looms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission tonight turned down a union request that it intervene in a labor dispute which has brought a strike threat at key atomic and H-bomb materials plants. The AEC suggested, however, that the wage dispute be taken to a government panel.

The CIO, Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers, whose 4,500 members struck plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky. for four days in early July, have threatened a new walkout at the same plants on an unnamed date. The plants produce the nation's entire supply of uranium material used in making the super bombs.

Earlier today the union's president, Elwood Swisher, sent telegrams to President Eisenhower, asking his "personal intervention," and to Chairman Lewis L. Strauss asking the AEC to get into the labor controversy between the union and Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corp., which operates the plants for the AEC. Swisher accused Carbide of "selfish and irresponsible conduct."

AEC Chairman Strauss sent Swisher a reply tonight declining to intervene and saying the proper governmental agency for any appeal is President Eisenhower's Atomic Energy Labor-Management Relations Panel.

French Assembly To Begin Debate

PARIS, Aug. 6 (AP)—The National Assembly agreed reluctantly today to pull the European Defense Community treaty out of the pigeonholes where it has been languishing for more than two years and start debate Aug. 4 on ratification.

Although several French governments have talked about bringing the project to permit West German rearmament in a six-nation army up for approval, this is the first time a date has been set.

The deputies will start their talks a few days after the foreign ministers of the six nations which signed the treaty hold a meeting in Brussels.

At this Brussels meeting, to open Aug. 19 or 20, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France is expected to outline a number of changes which he wants made in the treaty after it goes into operation.

JONESBORO, Aug. 6 (Special)—Funeral services for Hosea S. Lann, 60, who died in Wichita, Kansas Tuesday, was held in Darby's Funeral Home chapel this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Murphy, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, officiated and burial followed in the Greenwood cemetery.

Lann was a native of Bienville parish and a member of an old north Louisiana family.

He is survived by three brothers, W. E. Lann, Simsboro, C. H. Lann, Augusta, Ga., and J. R. Lann, of Ruston; four sisters, Mrs. R. B. Shively and Mrs. H. L. Smelley, of Jonesboro; Mrs. J. P. Collinsworth and Mrs. H. S. Rinehart, of Friendship; one son, John Hosea, of Baton Rouge.

Pearce Requests Drouth Survey

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 6 (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce today asked an immediate survey of drought conditions in north Louisiana after a rainless summer scorched cotton, feed crops and pasture.

He asked the disaster committee of the Production and Marketing Administration to act.

The survey will extend to all parishes north of an east-west line through Alexandria.

"The governor must have this information in order to request federal drought relief from the President," Pearce explained.

"I feel this survey should have been made already since our situation has been serious for some time."

He reported some districts of north Louisiana have had no rain since May.

"The situation is more serious than last year," he added. "Our winter rainfall was light and there is no subsurface moisture."

Hearings Set On Application For Delivery Of Gas

WASHINGTON—Aug. 6 (Special)—Hearings on an application by Olin Gas Transmission Corporation, Monroe, for authorization to construct and operate tap connections, metering and regulating facilities to deliver and sell natural gas to Gulf States Utilities Company, for resale and distribution in Alsen will be conducted Sept. 15 by the federal power commission.

Under its proposed plan, Olin Gas would build facilities costing an estimated $1,400 in East Baton Rouge Parish to transport and sell natural gas on a firm basis to Gulf States. It estimates that its sales to Gulf States will total approximately 8,000,000 cubic feet annually. Alsen Utilities Company Inc. has been allowed to intervene in the hearings.

Revive Federal Law To Prevent Indian Country From Becoming 'Mecca'

NEOPIT, Wis. (AP) — Authorities have resurrected a federal law to prevent a five million dollar windfall from turning the Menominee Indian Reservation into a salesmen's mecca.

Two arrests already have been made and more are anticipated.

The windfall came in the form of a $1,500 check from the federal government for each of the 3,254 adult Menominees on tribal rolls. The money, totaling $4,881,000, is part of a 9½ million dollar trust fund set up four years ago after the tribe won a lawsuit charging the government with mismanagement of tribal affairs.

First payment was provided for in legislation liberating the Indians from government control and supervision by 1959.

The majority of the Indians received their checks Tuesday and payments will be completed by Saturday.

What happens when sudden wealth hits an Indian reservation? A buying spree is the logical answer. Stores in the area have noted a boom in clothing and household furnishing purchases.

But Henry Fontenelle, assistant supervisor of the reservation, says "it's too early to tell."

"Although this is the largest lump sum the Indians have ever received," he points out, "they've been working steadily at their lumber business a long time and they're accustomed to money."

However, state, county and local police want the Menominees to have time to make their own decisions on how to spend their new wealth without any pressure from salesmen. So an old federal law barring peddlers and solicitors from Indian reservations without a license is being enforced again.

A salesman for an auto firm was arrested Wednesday and charged with trading on the reservation without a license. Another auto firm was charged with attempting to sell cars from an unlicensed lot on the fringe of the reservation.

Some of the Menominees are opening bank accounts for the first time. One of Shawano's two banks reported it cashed over $300,000 in checks Tuesday and Wednesday.

I often read about car thefts but it never struck home. Last night it was my car. Unless it shows up, I'll be out $2400. Is it true that about $10 would have bought theft, fire and glass breakage protection for a full year?

Nebo Will Head Cattlemen's Group

JENA, Aug 6 (Special)—Jean Andrews of Nebo has been re-elected president of the LaSalle parish Open Range Cattlemen's Association. J. D. Roberts was named vice president and V. L. Poole, secretary of the organization, at a meeting held in the parish courthouse this week.

In addition to the election of officers for the coming year, the main topic for discussion was ways and means of complying with the Blair fencing law which provides for state aid in fencing highways carrying as many as 1000 cars or more per day.

This Saturday a committee of the cattlemen's group will meet with the LaSalle parish police jury for further discussion of the problem. In the meantime, the police jury is asking an opinion from the district attorney as to what its powers and responsibilities are under the Blair fence law.

Anniversary Of World War I Outbreak Passes Almost Unnoticed In Europe

LONDON (AP)—A page in the history books flipped over this week in Europe.

Just 40 years ago—in the words of a British foreign minister—"The lamps are going out all over Europe."

The anniversary of what became known then as "The Great War" was officially ignored. Most people seemed to have forgotten—or they did not want to remember.

But in the English countryside an old man remembered. Winston Churchill has said over and over again a lasting world peace is the last prize he seeks to win. He's still trying. Churchill at 79 is the only topliner — governmental or military—of those fateful August days of 1914 still in power. Few others are even still alive.

Forty years ago, as the 39-year-old First Lord of the Admiralty, Churchill won praise for having the Royal Navy already mobilized and at battle stations when Britain went to war with the Kaiser's Germany. Resting at his country home in Kent this week, the same Churchill kept his thoughts to himself—and the world speculating on whether he intends to retire as Prime Minister.

The anniversary of the outbreak of World War I caught attention only in a few reminiscences—and warnings—in the newspapers. Europeans' attention was devoted more to the uneasy peace in the world today, and focused on Asia.

The London Evening News, in a commemorative editorial "Lest Europe have never properly stood We Forget," said:

"The forces then mobilized in down. The threat has been there, through 40 years of lost ideals and bitter disillusionment."

And the London Daily Telegraph warned:

"In August 1914, our country had the opportunity of allowing a Pax germanica to be imposed on Europe and rejected it. Twenty-five years later the same prospect faced us in an even more ambitious form and was refused.

"It would be an ill day when a Pax Sovietica became the only alternative to another world war and we had to take a similar grim but inevitable decision, even though in company with strong allies."

Germany, beaten in World War I and again in an even greater war—World War II—found itself a divided nation in a divided world. Among the West Germans, allied with the West, the anniversary passed unnoticed. The East Germans, under Soviet domain, made no mention of it either.

France, torn today by suspicion of a rearmed Germany and fear of Communist aggression, was more concerned about straighten-Indochina, Tunisia and Morocco than anniversaries.

Belgian newspapers carried front page anniversary stories. There was casual mention on the inside pages of Dutch newspapers of the flight of the German Kaiser Wilhelm to the Netherlands and his death there in 1941.

Moscow radio remembered.

For the men now in the Kremlin, where the Russian czars once were crowned, August 1914 was the forerunner of another anniversary to them

Is Yugoslavia Your Friend? Check These Facts--!

The Morning World has considered the case of Yugoslavia on several occasions. It has wondered about the great amounts of money and material being poured into that nation, one which is a Communist state in all its bloody and dictatorial violence. It has learned from a reader, a former citizen of Yugoslavia who is now an American and is interested in the state of his nation still under Communist domination.

Because Tito appears to be a friend of the West is no reason to lavish on him love and praise as is the case of the American State Department. It will be remembered that Tito is a Marxist of the first order whose main objective, perhaps as intensive as that of the Russians, if not more so, is to establish a Communist world order. He will, just as do other Communists, lie, cheat, murder and steal in order to accomplish his aims.

Yet, the State Department permitted young Yugoslavs to be trained as pilots in neighboring Texas. Who is to say that someday, these lads will not be attempting to shoot Americans out of the sky?

In any case, another shocking and terrible thing happened last month which enraged free Yugoslavs wherever they are and should have enraged Americans had they been the recipients of the information. The Right Reverend Arsenije, Bishop of the Serbian Easter Orthodox Church at Cetinje, Yugoslavia was drummed through a mock trial and sentencing by the Communist overlords.

Those who were particularly "offended" that the Morning World should denounce the World Council of Churches for admitting Communists to their gathering should consider this Communist action by a man who believes that he is a far better Communist than the Russians and is certainly not afraid to admit it.

Apparently, the only "crime" to which this priest was concluded "guilty" was that of expressing his belief in Christianity, Democracy and Decency. It is more apparent that he could never stand the acts of barbarism and sacrilege against the Church and Christ as is so typical of Communists wherever they may be and that does not eliminate Evanston, Illinois.

The Bishop was, due to his convictions, a fearless spokesman against the Communist government of his nation and as a result, he was "sentenced" to an eleven year term at hard labor. The Bishop is 76 years old. It is not believed that he will last the allotted 11 years. The Yugoslavian Communist prosecutor "proved" his "case" by stating that the Bishop had "proved" his imperialistic and criminal intent by giving a coffee party in 1952 celebrating the election of United States President Eisenhower.

Is Yugoslavia supposed to be a friendly nation? How long will it be a friendly nation? Here are some facts compiled by yet another Yugoslav, Bogdan Raditsa who questions Tito's sincerity in his "friendship" with the West: Beginning in 1953:

May 1st: Djuric, Yugoslav charge d'affaires in Moscow, expressed condolences at the death of Stalin and was officially invited to take part in the May Day parade. Official relations were thus reestablished for the first time in five years between the two nations.

May 31st: Yugoslavia and Rumania signed a navigational agreement on the Danube question. Tito declared that better relations with Moscow are desirable.

June 6th: Molotov declared to Djuric that an exchange of ambassadors and complete diplomatic relations should be reestablished.

June 8th: Yugoslav commission took first active part in Danube commission controlled by Soviets, in five years. mission, controlled by Soviets, in five years.

June 14th: Tito, in another speech, again declared the necessity to improve relations between his nation and Soviet Russia.

June 15th: Yugoslavia granted the Red Navy rights of passage through Yugoslavia on the Danube. Vassily Valkov was approved by Tito as new Soviet ambassador.

June 29th: Yugoslavia established a commission to quell "border incidents".

July 8th: Tito declared to UP correspondent Helen Fisher the need for better relations with the Soviets.

July 13th: Vidic was approved by Moscow as the Yugoslav ambassador.

August 1st through 7th: Yugoslavia and Albania established a commission to quell border incidents and improve relations. Albania is controlled by the Soviet Union.

August 31st: Hungarian and Yugoslav ambassadors exchanged.

September 1st: Soviet ambassador consulted Yugoslav foreign office on Trieste question. Next day, Yugoslav foreign office consulted Western officials.

September 10th through 14th: Yugoslav, Bulgarian ambassadors were exchanged.

September 16th: Yugoslavia for the first time in five years was omitted from the cominform lists of "enemies of the People's Republic".

September 23rd: Yugoslav Vice-Premier Kardelj praised the "progress and transformation of the sense of Social Democracy in the Soviet Union". He said that he believed good forces would become stronger and stronger in that nation.

October 6th: Yugoslavia was granted permission to visit the Yugoslavs held in Czech concentration camps.

October 9th: Yugoslavia sent back a Bulgarian pilot who had made what he thought was a flight to freedom. Soon after, Yugoslavia sent back all the Bulgarian refugees who had escaped after "the break". This amounted to the murder of these people.

October 11th: Tito asserted that "if something happens, we are going to reject all the obligations taken upon ourselves in recent years. Thus, we are going to gain something".

October 12th: Soviet Ambassador Valkov conferred with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Beber. Almost immediately thereafter, the Soviet Union denounced the West in the Trieste situation. Later, Valkov and Kardelj conferred and almost immediately, violent anti-West riots broke out in Belgrade.

October 22nd: Yugoslavia announced that all pro-Cominform and pro-Soviet students could resume their studies at Yugoslav universities.

October 26th: Yugoslavia sent a delegation to the Railroad Congress in Warsaw (Poland) while refusing to send one to Belgium.

On November sixth, the Yugoslavs sent fervent congratulations to Russia on the anniversary of the national Soviet Holiday. Great praise was given the Soviet Union.

One thing after the other has transpired. Praise of both nations in streams has poured forth. Significant has been the change of attitude towards the West, an attitude now almost inimicable. The case rests on these and countless other acts.

THESE DAYS

Radio—TV Censorship

In the 1952 campaign, the Democrats made a great to-do about the One Party Press. Of course, there is no such thing in this country. American newspapers have been called all sorts of names from the "Uptown Daily Worker" to the "Wall Street Kept Press," but the truth is not in such phrases. In fact, even inside the pages of each newspaper that is not strictly propagandistic, there are great differences in the presentation and interpretation of identical facts.

What brings this up is the testimony of Representative Martin Dies before the Jenner committee. Dies is describing the hoax put over by some left wing reporters that Dr. J. B. Matthews testified before the old Dies committee, nearly 20 years ago, that Shirley Temple was a Communist. Matthews did no such thing. He actually said that a message appeared in "Ce Soir" in Paris which bore many names, none of which was related to a Communist and that among them was the name of Shirley Temple. Matthews had used that as an example of how the Communists abuse innocent people.

Dies was incensed. And here is his story of what happened on radio:

"Immediately I asked for time on the radio. NBC wouldn't let me have the time. They told me frankly they were afraid of executive influence. Columbia wouldn't let me have the time . . .

" . . . Then I got the time at Mutual, but Mutual weakened at the last moment and finally said to me, 'You have got to submit your manuscript because Michelson has insisted that we let Paul Anderson follow you on the radio, and he is speaking for the White House and the White House wants you to surrender your manuscript to Paul Anderson.'

"I said, 'I am not going to do it.' I said, 'I have been attacked all over the country. I am entitled to go on the air and I am not going to submit the manuscript.'

"For a time it looked as though I would not be permitted to go on the air. Finally I did go on the air, and I just simply read the testimony, the transcript, to show the people that it (the Shirley Temple story) was not true."

The radio industry ought to take this testimony seriously because it is a direct accusation that radio connives at accepting censorship. Here is sworn testimony which is either true or Martin Dies has committed perjury. I was recently told that one of the most prominent nationwide commentators lost a great many local outlets because he "told the truth," as his friends put it, about the McCarthy hearings. Rightist commentators have difficulty finding sponsors, although rightist columnists have, in the aggregate, more newspapers than the left wing columnists. If they do so well in the newspapers, why do they have so much trouble getting sponsors on radio?

If Charles Michelson, who was Roosevelt's press agent, could require a radio network to submit a congressman's manuscript to an antagonistic newspaperman, is it possible that similar operations are in practice today? Does that explain the difficulties of right wing commentators on radio and television? They are regarded as controversial, but the left wingers are not controversial. How come?

The other night, at an after midnight party, I listened to an explanation of how best-seller lists are manipulated to favor leftist authors. I resolved never again to look at a best seller list unless printed along each listing are the figures of total sales up-to-date As a matter of fact, some of the books listed sell fewer copies than books that are only listed once or not at all.

Who organizes these queer operations? Martin Dies' report of his experience with radio is similar to reports I have heard from other public men. Only two television companies were willing to show the whole, unedited McCarthy-Stevens hearings, the American Broadcasting Company and Du Mont. The National Broadcasting Company gave only the Stevens testimony; Columbia gave no unedited version. The late-at-night edited version omitted what they did not want the people to see, on the firm ground that they had to cut out something, and they used their own judgment. That is an editorial prerogative and risk.

It would be interesting to hear what the radio companies have to say about Martin Dies' sworn testimony.

He interned at the Lying-In and Post-Graduate Hospitals in New York. His beautiful wife, the former Pauline Tai (all her friends call her Polly), is a native-born American citizen and proud of it; so are his three children. (One by a first wife who died.) "Doc" Yang was Honolulu's leading surgeon until 1951 when President Syngman Rhee asked him to represent in Washington the country he hadn't seen since childhood. Yang gave up a profitable practice, and since then has used up almost his entire private fortune in the costly ambassadoring business. Our Children

A Bone Of Contention

Suppose your mother-in-law had never liked you, had objected to her son's marrying you in the first place, and just when you and your husband and two-year-old child were settling into a pleasant home routine, mother-in-law comes to live with you. There is no other place for her to go. What, how, why, the questions tumble over one another. Of all the unpleasant things to happen. What can you do?

What cannot be cured must be endured. There is no place for this mother to go but to her son's home. True, it is his wife's home, too. But their togetherness settles the matter. The man loves his mother and she loves him, just as the wife has affection for her own mother. All this must be accepted.

Acceptance of the inevitable is the first step toward making it possible. After acceptance, making the best of it is not so hard as it looked at first. There is a room she can have, there are things she can do to help make home life easier for everybody. There is the child, too. Maybe she will be a great comfort to him. Maybe. If you will help her.

All the acceptance cannot be on one side. The newcomer has to do some accepting too. It is not easy for an elderly person to give up accustomed ways, the routine of years. It is downright hard to become a guest where you once were the head of the house. But that position must be accepted. The guest in the house, however related to the hosts, must assume that status, ease into the routine, watch for something to praise and never, never feel free to make sharp criticisms about any person, any happening, any custom in the household.

Suppose that this acceptance is not possible, that one or the other steadfastly clings to their rights, prejudices and habits and causes constant friction in the household, becomes a bone of contention between husband and wife? Then the bone must go out, that's all.

When two people marry and make a home, they and their children are of first importance there. Nobody else. The guest must understand this and adjust to it or leave. Common sense demands that the young people have the right of way, and of say, in their own homes, and to preserve their home is their first duty. True, they owe a duty to their parents but their parents owe a duty to them to their home, too. That home must come first. Family guests should consider this and express it in their daily attitudes and not become a bone of contention between the two young people.

Swiss Watches

For a president of the United States, a decision such as Dwight D. Eisenhower made on watch imports may seem a minor detail, but with the world viewing U. S. trade policy, it can assume major proportions. European nations which have anticipated better trade relations with the United States from the president's own approval of the "trade, not aid slogan" are able to magnify his action as a repudiation of the principle involved.

Switzerland, principal producer of watch parts to an extent which has almost put the American watch industry out of business, has threatened retaliation against this country. That would be rather ridiculous if it were not for the fact that the two countries have a reciprocal trade agreement which covers importation into Switzerland of U. S. tractors, autos and other machinery, in exchange for low tariff importations of watch parts into the United States.

The president made it quite clear in his announcement of approval of a 50 per cent increase of duties on watch parts that his decision had been largely influenced by the fact that the U. S. must maintain employment for skilled workers who are required for the manufacture of precision parts, essential to fuses and timing devices essential in case of war.

Twenty five years ago, when the last high tariff bill was passed in the Hoover administration, organized labor and organized agriculture were among the principal sponsors of the Smoot - Hawley act. The president's decision on watches was assailed by Walter P. Reuther, president of CIO, which brings into focus the change in position of some groups over a quarter of a century.

Whether President Eisenhower is to be praised or derided for his action in raising watch part tariffs, his action emphasizes one certainty. The United States cannot afford to take an attitude against its own interests where protection against imports of cheap foreign goods is concerned.

The domestic watch industry has been reduced to three major makes —Elgin, Hamilton and Waltham— all of which have important government defense contracts which keep at work an indispensable group of people. The usual arguments were made against the increases recommended by the U. S. tariff commission. One was that millions of dollars worth of watches, assembled in the U. S. from parts imported from Switzerland, can now be sold at higher prices under the false representation that the duties paid on them were at the 50 per cent increase rate approved by the president.

President Eisenhower explained that of dozens of tariff increases recommended by the tariff commission he had approved only two — the other was on a variety of Canadian clover — but that did not check a storm of foreign criticism. Even though the Eisenhower statement seemed to justify fully his action, it also raised a very important question — whether the United States is to regard as of first importance the interest of its own working people, or the assumption of foreign countries that the United States must maintain a free market for their goods.

Today U. S. department stores, clothing stores and novelty shops carry as much foreign goods as wares of American manufacture. Sentiment seems to be growing in congress that reciprocal trade agreements are a fine thing, except when they bring foreign commodities into direct competition with American goods at lower prices, because Europe and Japan can produce more cheaply on a lower wage scale.

The store windows of any city will give evidence of this situation. Yet the argument abroad is that any U. S. industry which needs a tariff increase to compete with European production must be inefficient, or it would be able to compete with the best paid artisans of Europe, without an increase in tariff.

That argument, to make polite, reply, is the bunk. Regardless of wages, living costs in the United States are higher than in Europe, taxes are higher, and the desire to help European industries is certainly greater than the European desire to help U. S. industries.

The time has come when the United States, through its very fair policy of prolonged study of proposed tariff increases by experts, with the old time lobbies and arguments for "infant industries" eliminated, should be able to keep its skilled workes on the job.

States Have Big Year In Fiscal 1953

WASHINGTON — The 1953 financial year was one of increases for state governments. The 48 states collected more revenue, made larger expenditures and increased their holdings — but ended up further in debt than at the close of fiscal 1952.

A Congressional Quarterly survery of latest figures available shows that in fiscal 1953, funds collected by the states to run their governments topped the previous year's total by 6.9 per cent, a figure slightly above the 6.4 per cent increase in expenditures from 1952 to 1953. However, unpaid debts climbed 13.8 per cent to a record high in 1953.

During fiscal 1953 the 48-state revenue total exceeded the aggregate spending figure by 6.7 per cent, revenue and borrowing topped spending and debt redemption by 12 per cent, insurance trust revenue was 76.6 per cent higher than insurance trust spending, liquor store revenue was 27.7 per cent more than liquor store expenditures, and general revenue (revenue exclusive of liquor store and insurance trust funds) was 1.1 per cent less than expenses in this category.

All revenue collected by the 48 states in 1953 amounted to $17,978,780,000, a figure $1.2 billion higher than the comparable 1952 total. Revenue trend has been steadily upward since World War II, and only one state — Georgia —failed to make a gain in 1953.

The more than $10.5 billion collected in taxes was the biggest single income factor for the states, making up well over half the revenue total. Insurance trust funds netted a little more than $2.5 billion, general revenues exclusive of taxes accounted for slightly less than $4 billion and receipts from liquor stores (operated by 16 states) amounted to about $1 billion.

While the states were collecting more money in 1953 than they did in 1952, they also were spending more. Total expenses of more than $16.8 billion in 1953 were about $1 billion more than the amount paid out the previous year.

General expenditures were the most prominent item on the "out" side of the states' ledger. These expenses amounted to more than $14.6 billion, including $4.4 billion for education, $3.6 billion for highways and $2.5 billion for public welfare programs. Other major cash outlays were the $1.4 billion for insurance trust spending (for employee retirement and unemployment compensation) and the $757 million for state-operated liquor stores.

As the states closed their books at the end of fiscal 1953 they were almost $1 billion farther in debt than they were a year previous. The $7.8 billion 1953 debt total was a record high, with one state, Nebraska, showing a 278.2 per cent increase in the amount of unpaid bills. Almost twice as many states, 31, showed debt increases as did the 17 that showed decreases. South Dakota's 33.5 decline led those states paring their outstanding debt totals.

The total debt increase was swollen by an acceleration in borrowing and a slow-down in debt redemptions. While the states borrowed about $204 million more in fiscal 1953 than in the previous year, debt redemption dropped approximately $90 million.

Offsetting the debt increase, and reflecting the $2.1 billion by which revenue and borrowing exceeded spending and debt redemption, was the 10.1 per cent rise in cash and security holdings of the states — from slightly less than $21.5 billion at the end of 1952 to more than $23.6 billion at the close of 1953.

Revenue was 6.7 per cent higher than spending

Revenue and borrowing exceeded spending and debt redemption by 12 per cent

Insurance trust revenue was 76.6 per cent higher than insurance trust spending

Liquor store revenue exceeded liquor store expenditure by 27.7 per cent

General revenue was 1.1 per cent less than general expenditures

No TV Or Radio At New Hearings On McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Senators drafted to investigate censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today picked Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) as chairman and decided to bar TV and radio from the hearings.

They also announced they would proceed without undue speed or undue delay. Hearings apparently will not get underway before the week after next at the earliest, after the weeding out of some of the more minor complaints among 46 specific accusations against McCarthy. Some of the charges overlap.

The committee met behind closed doors for nearly two hours today with Vice President Nixon sitting in. The six members, three Democrats, three Republicans, named Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) as vice chairman.

McCarthy inquiries figured in a sort of senatorial triple play today.

While one committee went through preliminaries of a new investigation of his conduct, another assembled to see what can be done about whipping out a report on the last one in which he was a principal—the 36 days of turbulent hearings on McCarthy's scrap with Army officials.

In the midst of this activity, McCarthy's own Investigations subcommittee quizzed witnesses in a closed session on what the Wisconsin senator says is evidence of broad Communist infiltration of defense plants. Lawrence W. Parrish of Quincy, Mass., and Miss Diantha Hoag of Buffalo, N.Y., told newsmen they had refused to answer some questions put to them, invoking the Fifth Amendment.

Chairman Watkins told a news conference the new investigating committee has reached no decision yet as between public hearings or closed ones whose proceedings would be released to the press in transcript form.

Johnson, who came out against anything smacking of "star chamber" operations, said he thought the committee would agree on open hearings.

Watkins and Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) agreed that there is no thought of putting off action on McCarthy beyond the November election.

"We expect to make a final report," Stennis said, "before the Senate adjourns for the year."

But, Watkins said, Committee members also feel that hearings shouldn't interfere with their legislative duties in the closing business sessions of the Senate.

Senate leaders have their sights set on getting through legislative chores by Aug. 14 and Watkins said it would be a fair assumption that hearings would begin after that.

The Army - McCarthy hearings were televised all the way, with brilliant lights burning down on the proceedings. Members said today's decision against a repetition of what Johnson called a "vaudeville show" was unanimous.

They regard the censure hearings as in the nature of a grand jury or court case. Two lawyers and some stenographers will be borrowed from other Senate committees, if possible, Watkins announced, and the Library of Congress will be asked to help with research.

Whether the committee definitely will recommend for or against censure is something Watkins said will be determined later.

Senators Flanders (R-Vt) and Fulbright (D-Ark) have contended the committee should merely decide what the facts are and not bring in any specific recommendation for Senate action.

Along with Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), they have filed the 46 charges the committee will consider. Some of them duplicate each other, and they range from complaints that McCarthy abused witnesses to an accusation that he improperly accepted a $10,000 fee from a housing corporation for a booklet on housing.

Committee members agreed to study the charges individually over the weekend and try to discard some of the less significant ones by the time of the next meeting Monday afternoon.

The elimination of some charges, Watkins said, would not necessarily mean that they were entirely untrue. But he said time and other practical matters must be considered.

Quints Guarded

ounces among them in four days. They showed gains of from one ounce to two and one-quarter of an ounce."

Newspapers the world over carried day-by-day weight charts on the tiny girls.

Not even Dr. Dafoe nor their parents could first tell the five girls apart without looking at the identification tags they wore. Only Miss Alice Mary Cloutier, a Red Cross nurse, who watched over them through the crisis periods, knew one from the other.

Marie was born the smallest and the weakest. Emilie was small, too but her face was bigger than Marie's and her chin was not quite so pointed.

Cecil's hands were never quiet, always at her face or playing with her clothing. Her face was long and tapered down at the chin.

Yvonne was the biggest and the darkest. Annette was just a little smaller than Yvonne and not quite so dark.

When the quints were little more than three months old they were lodged in their own new hospital, 100 yards from the home where they were born. The hospital, called "Dafoe Hospital," had heating thermostatically controlled to prevent the frail girls from catching a dangerous cold.

Laymen accepted the quints as a miracle. Out of three dozen sets of quintuplets born during the past five centuries, the Dionnes at the time were the only ones who lived more than one hour.

Extraordinary precautions surrounded the girls even when they reached the age where most children romp and get dirty as much as they please. On their third birthday party, their parents, brothers and sisters wore white cotton hospital gowns over their everyday clothes.

For the first seven years of their lives, while they were one of the world's main "peepshows," the quints lived apart from their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne were not encouraged to visit their daughters in the special hospital-school. The girls were not allowed to play with the other Dionne children, even at Christmastime.

The year the quints were born was a depression year. The young mother was anxious to save the doctor's fee of $15. But her husband insisted — and probably saved his wife's and his five daughters lives.

When told that she had given birth to five girls, Elzire Dionne exclaimed, "how will we clothe so many? And what will the neighbors say?"

German officials indicated a new approach would be made to the householders to persuade them to yield the homes. They were to be cleared away for an Army housing project.

Reinforced German police placed a cordon around the disputed area Friday.

An official Army statement on the biggest uprising against the American occupation since the war said reports had been received that "Communist agitation" fomented the trouble.

"According to local citizens," the statement said, "the assembly (demonstration) is the result of Communist agitation.

"It was reported that the demonstrations may have been the result of a Communist-sponsored meeting held in a local meeting hall."

Two of Bremen's leading Communist officials turned up in the trouble area Friday. They kept carefully in the background.

Rhymes Well Is Gas Producer; Tests Next Week

A dual gas producer, located five miles south of DeSiard Street, was brought in late Thursday with an estimated production set at 16½ million feet. No tests have been run on the well, located on the J. H. Rhymes property, but official tests are expected to be run "sometime next week" according to the local office of the department of conservation, minerals division.

Located in Section 20, Township 17N, Range 4E, the well has been watched by many oil and gas men as a possible new field opening. Original plans called for the well to be drilled to over 9700 feet, but the perforation has been plugged back to between 5,300 and 5,500 feet. At the 5,300 foot level the production of the well is unofficially set at 9.5 million cubic feet, while the 9,500 level is believed to be in the neighborhood of 6.5 million feet.

The well was drilled by the Crescent Drilling Company of Monroe for the Carter Oil Company on the Rhymes plantation just south of Monroe. The actual site of the well is a short distance off the Winnsboro road and is approximately two miles from the present Milhaven field.

left a convent where she had been a novice until last month. It was while on a trip to visit Marie at her convent that Emilie became lost in Montreal.

Dionne, his wife and the four other quints spent Friday night "in meditation."

The parents of the soft-spoken girl apparently planned to remain in their little pink stucco house at Callander to await the arrival of Emilie's body.

The girl died less than 10 months before she was to have inherited her share of $1 million the fortune the quints amassed through endorsements and a trust fund set up by the Ontario government.

Emilie had been studying at L'Institut Familial at Nicolet, Que., where she and two of the other quints, Annette and Cecile, were taking a course in domestic science. A fourth member of the famous five, Marie, last month left a Quebec City convent where she was a novice nun because she was homesick and wanted to take a rest.

Yvonne, the other quint, has been studying art at the Notre Dame Congregation in Montreal.

Emilie's sudden death broke the charmed circle of the quints who had led a unique life since their birth to humble parents at 4 o'clock the morning of May 28, 1934. Along with her sisters, Emilie had met kings and queens, cardinals and prime ministers in the ensuing years.

She had helped to launch ships. Like her sisters, Emilie rarely had much to say and, according to glamor standards, she had little physical beauty. But wherever she went, Emilie attracted crowds.

Fame, however, had left Emilie a lonely girl, set apart from other young women of her age. The world's insistent curiosity had forced her and her sisters to retire behind a carefully-guarded wall.

Only last month, Papa Dionne, as father of the quints had become affectionately known, disclosed that Emilie was considering entering the Oblate Sisters order here.

A baseball fan writes under the heading "Do Your Share" which seems to present a situation that should not exist and will not if each one adds support. Here it is:

Do Your Share

"Dear Jes' Ramblin',

"What's wrong with the American people? The world really is in a bad fix when the American people won't support their baseball teams. Sure, the people have television and other things to keep them home but don't tell me that the people of Monroe and West Monroe are going to let a few modern inventions take the place of the old time favorite American sport, baseball.

Maybe we, the Twin Cities Sports, don't have a winning team but we have a good one. Maybe if we, the people of Monroe and West Monroe, would go out and support the team they would try harder to get to the top.

"What do you say? Will you go out and show some of your good American spirit by attending the games and supporting the Twin Cities Sports?

Mrs. R. M. Kettenring, 205 Smith Ave., Monroe, on behalf of members of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church in Monroe, makes an earnest plea in a letter to Jes' Ramblin' that should not go unheeded. Here is what she writes:

"The members of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church, operating with the other Disciples of Christ Churches throughout the nation, are collecting discarded spectacles to be sent to the needy people of India. Sun glasses also are needed and frames from old lenses are also solicited.

"We shall appreciate any publicity that Jes' Ramblin' can give us. Much good has been done in the past through this column and we know that you will have a good response to a plea and kind word from this source.

Sprig And Twig Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Slaughter

The Sprig and Twig Garden Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. E. D. Slaughter on Gerald Street.

After a short business session, the club studied color in relation to flower arrangement, the physical and psychological aspects of flower arrangements, and reactions to color. Each member brought an arrangement, naming her arrangement as to form and color.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Slaughter to the following members: Mrs. J. M. Pratt, Mrs. O. K. Davis, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Gene Smith, Mrs. W. M. Culp, Mrs. B. F. Cummings, Mrs. R. F. Wilson, Mrs. M. W. Hendricks, and Mrs. T. J. Mulhearn, Jr.

After refreshments were served the members went to the home of Mrs. H. V. Collins. Mrs. Collins gave an illustrated lesson on flower arrangements made in glass conforming to color as studied in the lesson. One arrangement was made in a glass cornucopia, which could be used on either a luncheon table or coffee table. This was an airy arrangement in shades of pink composed of snapdragons, perennial sweetpeas, and rain lilies. Another interesting arrangement was made under water using marigolds and scabiosa. Mrs. Collins made two other arrangements, one of ginger lilies using their own foliage, and the other in a crystal compote.

The next monthly meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Gene Smith.

Do Your Own Manicure? Rules For Better Results

I do not know whether there are any statistics concerning the comparative number of women who manicure their own nails and those woh have it done at a beauty salon. I would gues sthat by far the largest group gives its own manicures. Therefore, I would like to pass along a few suggestions to help you.

1. It is a fine idea to have a manicure given you in order to start you off correctly. Once this is done it is much easier. In fact, a professional manicure periodically is an aid.

2. Do not slant your nails too sharply at the outer corners! Nails should not look narrowly pointed, but oval. If you do file them too sharply at the corners it will cause them to break more easily.

Cuticle Oil

3. Do not cut the cuticle unless it is absolutely necessary. If this is necessary it is probably because your cuticle is dry. Massage cuticle cream or oil around the nails every night before going to sleep. When giving yourself a manicure, apply oil to the cuitcle and then push it back from the nail rather than cutting it. You will soon train it to remain back.

4. There is a cream polish remover on the market which is wonderful because it does not get pink or red over the cuticle when polish is being removed.

5. Be sure the color of your polish matches or blends with the color of your lipstick. A clash can be most unattractive. There are some shades in nail polish which blend in with several different shades of lipstick. Select your lipstick because it is flattering to you and does not clash with your clothes, and then match your polish to your lipstick.

Need Calcium?

6. If your nails break or split, it may be due to a lack of calcium and vitamin D. Drink more milk and take your sunbaths.

7. This is the most important suggestion of all! Be sure not to neglect your manicure. Your hands are very much in evidence and you cannot look dainty or alluring with poorly kept fingernails.

Cancellation Of Passenger Trains On Southern OK'd

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 6 (AP)—The Southern Railway's cancellation of Mississippi service on passenger trains between New Orleans and Birmingham was approved today by the Mississippi Public Service Commission.

The commission, at the end of a four-day hearing, voted 2-1 to approve the railroad's action in dropping the service without notice last month.

"How can we force railroads to run trains on which it is known they lose money?" asked Commissioner Howard Little.

Little and Commissioner Ike Sanford approved the railroad action. Commission Chairman Alton Massey voted against it.

By law the railroad was not required to ask permission or give notice when it drops scheduled trains.

The railroad, which still runs the trains from Birmingham to Meridian and New Orleans to Slidell, La., has asked permission of the Alabama, and Louisiana public service commissions to discontinue this service also.

Residents along the line sought to have the trains restored, and the commission ordered the Meridian hearing, calling upon the railroad to show cause why it should not be forced to reinstate the trains.

Southern contended it steadily lost money on the two trains.

Citizens along the route claimed the cancellation of the trains disrupted business in the area and ended a necessary service to the communities served by the trains.

Jena Agent To Attend Meet

JENA, Aug. 6 (Special)—Mrs. Maxine Reeves of Jena, home demonstration agent for the LaSalle parish agricultural extension service office, will leave Sunday for Springfield, Mo., where she will attend a regional farm and home development workshop, sponsored by the University of Missouri and the agricultural extension service of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Mrs. Reeves is one of four home demonstration agents in Louisiana to be selected to attend this regional conference which embraces the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas and Oklahoma, in addition to Missouri.

In addition to the four Louisiana home agents, four Louisiana parish farm agents and three representatives from the state agricultural extension service also will attend the week-long conference which will begin Aug. 10.

Although the University of Missouri, at Columbia, is host and co-sponsor of the conference, the workshop will be held at Springfield, Mo., Mrs. Reeves said.

From 1948 to 1954, Turkish production of cereals increased from 9 million tons to 13½ million tons.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I am infuriated by your advice to a young wife to leave her roving husband, placing all the blame upon him. Did it ever occur to any of you women that a man is a human being too, and in need of affection?—that he pays a woman the highest compliments she can receive by choosing her above all other women to spend the rest of his life with? Then she sits placidly and passively receiving his affectionate overtures as her due, and never responding in kind. And when these overtures result in a warmer type of love-making, he is repulsed.

Since man was created for obvious reasons, you may rest assured that neither you nor any of your narrow-minded sisters can make him over. What he can't find at home he'll find somewhere else, even though he longs for the lovely and unattainable creature to whom he gave his heart.

Potential Rover

NO CONDONING THE WRONG

ANSWER: My usual advice to wives of roving Romeos is that they stick it out, working and waiting for the wanderer's return; this brings furious replies from the ladies who feel a wife shouldn't put up with even one lapse. Whether to leave or stay, is, of course, a question of the circumstances surrounding infidelity. By no means do all philandering husbands have the same excuse. Some are, as you suggest, driven from home by cold wives; others have nothing but vanity as an excuse—if excuse it can be. However, no matter what reason, or attempted justification is given, right is right, wrong is wrong, and adultery cannot be condoned.

Sexual maladjustment is one of the prime reasons for marital failures. It is recognized as such by marriage counselors, doctors, social service workers. Pick up a copy or two of any leading woman's magazine and you're almost sure to come across an article treating the problem frankly and completely.

With all the help available to handle it, there's no valid excuse why it should continue to be a marriage wrecker. If you have, as I assume from your letter, a frigid wife, you will both be greatly helped by an interview with a good counselor. The re-education of your wife may take weeks or months, but if you continue with the program, you will no longer sign yourself "Potential Rover." In the meantime, don't seek justification of a wrong; take steps to rectify a troubling condition instead of using it as an excuse.

DEAR MISS DIX: After dating a boy for three years, I accepted his engagement ring a few days ago. However, I have been beset by doubts ever since. You see, I'm not sure he's really the right one. I have another friend I like very much and I'm just not certain I made the better decision.

W.L.

ANSWER: If you have any doubts whatever about your engagement, break it now. The longer you continue to wear the ring, the harder it will be to make a choice between the two young men, and the more difficult it will be to tell your fiance of your doubts.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17, a junior in high school, and date a boy two years older, who is a senior. He is a very good-looking boy, of fine character, good personality, and an outstanding student. He is a deaf mute, and the success he has had in keeping up with classes, and participating in school activities, has won the admiration of his fellow students. Because of his handicap, our communication is somewhat limited, though through sign language, in which I am becoming quite proficient, we do fairly well. The trouble is with my mother who strenuously objects to the friendship. She knows the boy's family and holds them in high esteem. However, she threatens to take me out of school if I don't stop going with the boy.

Lora T.

ANSWER: Your mother is a follower of the widespread and generally accepted theory that anyone who is a bit different from his fellow men is shameful. It's unfortunate that the truly crippling handicaps — those of the soul and heart, are not as apparent as physical defects.

Some of the finest characters in the world have faced life with terrific physical handicaps, yet have achieved amazing success in many fields. Your Mom might profit by reading some books written, for instance, by deaf people who rose valiantly above their infirmity. Some of these books are: "Louder Please," by Ernest Calkins; "Hearing is Believing," by Mrs. M. H. Heiner; "Cotton in My Ears," by Frances Warfield; and "Let's Hear It," by G. W. Frankel.

Says Department Of State Wrong On Shrimp Tariff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Willis (D-La) said the principal obstacle to a move to place a tariff on shrimp imports is the State Department.

Willis said yesterday "It appears the department is very hesitant about the matter. And it is rather difficult to understand why it is standing in the way of the necessary protection for this important domestic industry."

The Louisiana congressman moved to obtain some relief for Gulf Coast shrimp fishermen reported hit by a decline in prices and heavy shrimp imports.

Willis said shrimp boats in the vicinity of Morgan City, La., tied up not long ago because of the price situation.

He enlisted the support of congressmen from the Gulf Coast states for legislation introduced by himself and Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) last January to impose a 35 per cent duty on imported shrimp.

Support for the measure came in the form of similar legislation, introduced by 14 House members and aimed at protecting the domestic fisherman.

Willis said, in another effort, he has enlisted the co-operation of military forces to promote greater use of shrimp in service menus. He said food procurement officials told him they had called attention to all military installations to advantages of shrimp.

He also was told, Willis said, that the military program has been broadened to include purchase of breaded as well as unbreaded shrimp.

About three million dollars worth of sea food, largely shrimp, was purchased for the military during the year ending June 30, he said.

"It appears the figures will be substantially increased during the new year," he added.

Willis also said he has urged use of shrimp in the federal aid school lunch program and has received an encouraging response.

Man Wanted On Two Counts Here To Be Returned

A man wanted in Ouachita parish on two counts of forgery is being held by the sheriff department in Baton Rouge and will be returned to Monroe late Friday, Sheriff Bailey Grant said today.

Sheriff Grant identified the man as B. F. Renninger, 28. No address was known.

Grant said Renninger had been charged with forging two checks and cashing them in local grocery stores. The checks, both made out to Milliner, were signed "J. B. Milliner" and "H. B. Barnett." They were for $9.75 and $17.20.

The Baton Rouge department arrested Renninger on information supplied by the local department. Chief Criminal Investigator E. L. Walker will return the man.

Pranksters Paint Winnsboro Tanks

WINNSBORO, August 6 (Special)—High climbing pranksters with a flare for sign painting, have been placed on the wanted list by the Franklin parish sheriff's department here.

This was revealed today by Sheriff Hiram B. Waller, who said that several large captions about the Crowville Senior Class of 1955, and a picture, had been painted in black on the 100-foot high, 100,000-gallon water tank of the Union Compress and Warehouse Co. here.

The tank had been painted recently at a cost of $350, officials said. They expressed concern that it might be necessary to repaint it.

Evangelist Has 'Evidence' After Filming Nudists

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 6—UP—A crusading evangelist said Friday he had evidence to show that life in the raw at nudist camps "stimulate" many young people to the point where they hold sex parties when they return home.

Dr. Braxton Sawyer of Fort Smith, Ark., said he saw no signs of "daytime immorality" while filming the American Sunbathing Association's national convention at Sunshine Gardens near here. However, he said he had wire recordings to prove that the "thrill" of such activities didn't die out when the conventions end.

"They said nudist camps stimulated them to hold nude meetings on a smaller scale when they returned to their homes.

"They admit that these local parties led to immorality on the part of most young members who attended them," he said.

Sawyer, who was thrown out of Sunshine Gardens when he refused to strip earlier this week, said he would use his latest information to plug for legislation banning nudism in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. His daily broadcasts on the "evils" of nudism are carried by 27 radio stations in the four states.

The evangelist said his film, tape recordings, nudist publications and "confessions" pointed up the "disgusting vulgarity" of nudism.

"Perhaps my worst piece of evidence is a roll of colored film of a nude wedding," he said. "It shows a nude boy and girl standing before a nude minister. The best man, the attendants, everybody—they're all standing there nude."

Sawyer said other movies he took included nude dances. One of them, he said, showed "a 60-year-old woman, without a stitch of clothes, bouncing around like a jitterbug."

The United States had 9.7 marriages per 1,000 population in 1953.

Catahoula Residents Work To Secure Levee

JONESVILLE, Aug. 6 (Special) — Catahoula parish citizens are continuing their determined efforts to secure a levee for their parish, having recently again conferred with representatives of the corps of engineers here.

More than half the parish is inundated by overflows and flood waters every two or three years and parish residents are insistent that a levee for Catahoula be constructed at the same time that work is underway on the Old River — Atchafalaya project in south Louisiana.

Wedon Smith, levee board member from Catahoula, said, "If our citizens must wait until the Old River closure project is completed before we get a levee, the economy of the parish will be far below almost all other parishes and our chances of progress and prosperity non - existent."

A survey of the Catahoula parish area has been made and Colonel Simpson of the corps of engineers said he would inform Catahoula residents when they could expect the results of this survey.

It has been estimated that the Old River - Atchafalaya project will take five years to be completed. Smith and Catahoula citizens claim that the parish cannot wait that long before a levee is started. If the engineers find that a Catahoula levee is justified, parish citizens argue that a levee for the parish must be started at the same time or else it will be 10 or 15 years before Catahoula will realize levee protection.

With a levee, thousands of acres of virgin soil can be put into cultivation and industries might be attracted citizens claim, but without a levee no industry will consider locating in an area facing a flood threat, nor will other people consider making Catahoula their home.

Colonel Simpson said the corps of engineers would give consideration to the request by Smith that the Catahoula levee be started at the same time as the Old River-Atchafalaya project.

Long Accused Of Actively Supporting Gravel

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—State Sen. Robert Ainsworth says that despite a denial, former Gov. Earl Long is actively backing Camille Gravel for Democratic national committeeman from Louisiana.

Gravel, Alexandria attorney and friend of Long, and Ainsworth are rivals for the post. Frank Ellis, New Orleans attorney, resigned as committeeman last week after he was defeated by U. S. Sen. Allen Ellender in the latter's bid for renomination.

Referring to Gravel's candidacy, Long said yesterday, "I have had very little to do with it. Mr. Gravel . . . asked me for permission to use my nam with the few friends I have on the Central Committee. . .

"This is the same committee that removed me in favor of Mr. Ellis a couple of years ago. Therefore, no one would expect me to control a majority of the same committee that removed me."

In reply, Ainsworth said, "I doubt that anyone would be fooled by Gov. Long's disavowal of Mr. Gravel's candidacy, for he is unquestionably supporting him very actively and energetically."

The 100-member Democratic State Central Committee will meet in Baton Rouge Aug. 16 to certify Ellender as the Senate Democratic nominee and receive Ellis' resignation. If the resignation is accepted, the committee will name his successor.

Gravel said in Alexandria he supported Gov. Robert Kennon in the 1948 runoff primary after backing Long in the first primary. Kennon is supporting Ainsworth for national committeeman.

10 Beautiful Women

This being mid - summer, let's talk about beautiful women. Not that you can't discuss beautiful women in mid - winter, but this is mid - summer. The subject for this particular mid - summer discussion of beautiful women is a thought dropped by Oleg Cassini, a dress designer, NBC-TV performer and beautiful woman fancier.

"There's a new type of woman developing," Cassini said. "Pin-ups are on the way out. This new type of beauty gives more nourishment to the mind and the soul."

And, for all your undernourished minds and souls, I asked Cassini which were the ten most beautiful women he'd ever met in his various careers. And this is his list, arranged in no particular order whatsoever.

1. Greta Garbo — "she would have been beautiful in any age of history."

Gene Tierney — (Cassini's ex-wife, incidentally) — "she is honestly a very great beauty."

3. Anne, Duchess of Rutland — "typically English; a little severe and collected but so perfect in feature."

4. Grace Kelly — "represents the new appeal; a combination of the All - American type with aristocratic blending."

5. Mrs. Bertram Taylor — "New York's most beautiful woman; a mixture of Grecian purity with a little bit of Irish."

6. Aischa, Maharanee of Jaipur — "the most beautiful Oriental woman."

7. Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt — "so right in every detail — proportion, size, coloring, eyes."

8. Mrs. Rhinelander Stewart — "a classic beauty; the eternal feminine look."

9. Mrs. Harrison Williams — "the most interesting, mysterious face."

10. Ann Gunning (an English model) — "the most exotic face."

That sounds like a good group to have over next Saturday night.

One final word from Cassini on beauty:

"There are more and more beautiful women these days because of sports, sunshine and better hygiene and nutrition. This is the best period of history for beauty, except possibly the Greek age — and I wasn't there then."

He looked a little disappointed that he wasn't.

Karen Chandler, one of the most beautiful singers around today, broke in her brand - new night-club act at the Stagecoach Inn, across the Hudson River from New York. She cuts a charming figure on the floor, and has good material to work with. One of the highspots is a medley of "should-have-beens" — records she made for Coral that should-have-been hits but weren't.

That's the American way — even the failures get a second chance.

Scientists believe that no people on earth is without the ability to use fire.

Synod Only Place For Free Speech In South Africa

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Anglican diocesan synod is one of the few places in South Africa where natives freely can express their opinions, says the Rt. Rev. Richard A. Reeves, Bishop of Johannesburg.

"Natives carry 42 per cent of the voting power in the synod and I know of no Anglican church where they would be excluded from services," Bishop Reeves, a delegate to the World Anglican Congress, said in an interview Thursday.

His statement came as the 600 delegates flom 14 churches on every continent held a closed session today on church policies.

Referring to South African Prime Minister Malen's policy of apartheid (Segregation), Bishop Reeves said it has reached the point where "the government hasn't achieved segregation and we haven't won integration."

"Of 130 clergy in the Johannesburg diocese, 35 are Africans," the Bishop continued. 'While natives and Whites do worship in separate churches, this is brought about by geographic and linguistic demands rather than by any thought of discrimination."

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Cotton futures moved nervously over narrow price limits in quiet dealings today. Final prices were 10 to 50 cents a bale higher.

The higher market was again due to dry weather reports from many sections of the cotton belt, with higher temperatures also a concern, because extreme heat has caused excess shedding of the crop.

During early trading the market was also helped by covering of export sales to the Far East. However, hedging and profit taking were attracted and the markets trend was reversed.

A large segment of the trade was also inclined to even up positions, pending release of the August 1 government cotton production report Monday. Average estimate of private reports is for a cotton crop of around 12,250,000 bales.

Second Heaviest Stock Declines Of 1954 Witnessed

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP) — The stock market sustained its second deepest decline of the year today, touched off by heavy liquidation of Chrysler Corp. shares.

Twice during the morning and once during the afternoon, selling was so intense that the high speed ticker tape fell behind the trading pace. It was late for 35 minutes during the afternoon, longest lag this year. Declines of three and four dollars were numerous. But by the close, losses had narrowed.

Brokers said Chrysler Corp., which cut its quarterly dividend in half after the market closed yesterday, triggered the shakeout by setting off numerous stop-loss orders.

Final quotation was 59⅛ off 5¾ points.

Steels, motors and railroads were thoroughly depressed. Chemicals,utilities, rubbers, aircrafts and airlines wetre generally lowesr. Radio-television, motion picture and oil company issues ended mixed.

Cotton Letter

NEW YORK, August 6—Trading was light in the last session before bureau day and prices were a standoff. The market opened firm on carry over from yesterday's commission house strength but encountered increased hedging as March and May neared 35.50.

Trading slowed ppreciably thereafter with locals accounting for a good portion of the activity. October and December 1955 sold at 34 before profit taking pared the gains.

There was very little rain reported in the entire cotton belt during the past 24 hours and the forecast is for scattered thundershowers in rather widely dispersed areas.

The unfixed call sales position continues to grow and for the week ending July 30. They increased 64,000 bales totaling 1,165,400 vs. 916,900 a year ago. The bulk of these is in December with 436,100 bales.

Unfixed call purchases increased 8,100 bales to 115,490 against 140,400 last year. Of these 64,700 bales were based on October and 33,200 on December.

Worth street is steady on small volume. Spot 80 squares are selling at 19 cents for delivery.

Exports so far this season are 4,968 bales vs. 12,432 bales.

Twin Cities Suffer 10 To 2 Setback At Pine Bluff

Both Sports' Runs Result Of Chetta, Fontana Homers

PINE BLUFF, Ark., August 6 — (Special)—The Twin Cities Sports could only account for two runs tonight, both homers, as they suffered a 10-2 setback from the Pine Bluff Judges.

Chuck Fontana's solo homer in the fourth, and Sam Chetta's in the ninth, accounted for the two Sports' tallies. Chetta also got a single to lead the Twin Cities with two of their five safeties.

Dan Gatta homered for the winners in the fourth with nobody on.

Fontana ended the three-frame scoreless deadlock in the top of the fourth with a leadoff home run blast over the righfield fence to give the Sports a 1-0 lead.

The Judges came up with a homer of their own in the fourth, only with a runner on base, to give them a 2-1 margin. After pitching to 12 batters in three and two-thirds innings, just one over par, Bill Halley was worked for a walk by Gene Oden. This set the stage for Gatta's smash over the leftfield barrier. Bobby Gonzalez followed with a triple to leftcenter, but was left stranded when the next batter grounded out to first.

Pine Bluff tallied two more in the fifth, when the first batter walked and the next two beat out bunts to load the sacks. Charles Gates hit to Halley, who threw to catcher Sam Chetta for the force at home, but the latter dropped the ball, the run scored, and the sacks were still loaded with none out. Merle Smith flied to Frank Marinkovich, who threw to Virgil Petty at third to catch the runner trying to advance after the catch. Pitcher Bob Omelka, on third, scored after the outfield snag.

Halley remained on the mound as the Judges broke loose for six singles and six big runs in the bottom of the sixth. Pine Bluff batted ten men in the inning, in which there was one walk and no errors.

Chetta hit his homer with two out and no one on base in the ninth, to give the Twin Cities their second and final run.

Horvath Grabs Halfway Lead In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Rudy Horvath, a high-strung, diminutive from Canada, took the halfway lead in the $25,000 All-American Golf Tournament today, but the incomparable Babe Zaharis stole the show at Tam O'Shanter with a record-smashing performance.

Hovarth's second round of 69—giving him a 36-hole tally of seven-under-par 137—was matched by Babe in breaking her own competitive course record.

The indomitable woman athlete who overcame a cancer operation 16 months ago, clipped seven strokes off women's par with a 33—a record first nine round for women—and 36.

The torrid 69 broke Babe's own Tam record of 36-34 set in 1950 and earned her a 1,500 reward donated by Promoter George S. May for lowering the mark.

May's $10,000 offer to the male pro breaking Lloyd Mangrum's course mark of 63 in 1948 looked safe.

Harold Williams, the little-known pro from Tuscaloosa, Ala., who stunned the field as he grabbed the first round lead with a 67, resersed his figures for a 76 today as he skidded to 143 and a tie for 29th place.

Pete Cooper, 39-year-old pro and truck farm operator near Tampa, Fla.; Henry Ransom, Pontiac, Mich., 1950 winner of the "world" championship, and Marty Furgol each posted 68s today. Cooper shared second place at 138 with Jerry Barber, La Canada, Calif., who added a 70 to his first round 68, and British Open Champion Peter Thomson of Australia, who also coupled a 70 with 68. Furgol was bracketed by himself at 139.

Monroe Little Leaguers Beaten By Lake Charles

ALEXANDRIA, La. Aug. 6 (Special)—The Monroe All-Stars were shut out by Lake Charles, 6 to 0, here tonight in the Louisiana state championship Little League tournament as Lake Charles advanced to the finals with Alexandria, earlier conqueror of Houma, 5 to 4. Lake Charles and Alexandria meet for the title Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The Monroe-Lake Charles game was played under protest after Lake Charles had challenged birth certificates of most Monroe boys and had refused to permit one, "Buddy" Fincher, an outfielder, to participate. The Lake Charles delegation, headed by Harry Chozen, former Cotton States League player and manager, said some of the Monroe records were "not bona-fide certificates."

Lake Charles, getting only six hits off Monroe pitching, capitalized on six Monroe errors. The south Louisiana team bagged three runs in the third inning on one hit and three errors, and clustered three more in the fifth on two hits and two errors. Monroe was held to four hits while Lake Charles played errorless ball.

Alexandria had an uphill fight to eliminate Houma. The Houma club jumped into a four-run lead in the first inning but could score no more as Alexandria worked three pitchers.

The winner here Saturday night advances to the national regional tournament at Natchez, Miss.

Ruston Completes Plans For Football Jamboree

RUSTON, La. Aug. 6 (Special)—Complete plans were announced this week by coach Cecil Crowley, general chairman of the Ruston Lions Club jamboree commitee, for the three-game football festival to be staged in Louisiana Tech stadium on Friday, August 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Committee assignments have been made by coach Crowley, and "honorary coaches" for each of the six participating high school teams have been named. Serving as chairmen of the various committees will be: Blanchard Odom, ticket sellers; W. H. McLaurin, gate keepers; Hiram Pyburn, stadium arrangements; J. D. Bice, ushers; Tomp Raley, concessions; Huey Williamson, mass calisthenics for teams; Ken Whitaker, radio and public address system; and Paul T. Hendershot, publicity.

An interesting arrangement for the jamboree again this year has been the appointment of the honorary coaches for the visiting teams, as follows: Hale Walker, Minden; C. E. Barr, Jena; Jack Chastain, Ruston; D. M. Hall, Jonesboro-Hodge; W. H. Stewart, Springhill; and J. R. Stuckey, West Monroe. These members of the Ruston Lions Club will serve as a welcoming committee for the six teams, and will assist the visiting coaches by acting as guides and advisers with reference to dressing room assignment, pre-game workouts, and the mass calistenics demonstration to be staged by all six teams on the football field at the same time.

Three separate games will be played in the jamboree, with each game consisting of two 15-minute halves. In the first contest, for which kick-off time is set at 7:30 p.m., Jonesboro-Hodge will tangle with West Monroe. Minden plays Jena in the second game, and Springhill and Ruston will renew their grid rivalry in the final attraction of an expected thrill-packed grid festival. None of these six teams will play its jamboree opponent again during the regular fall grid campaign.

It has been announced that R. G. Hanchey, principal of Ruston High School, is a special member of the jamboree committee this year, since the Louisiana High School Athletic Association now requires that a local high school must be co-sponsor of a pre-season jamboree. Hanchey, an ardent football fan, has been a supporter of the Ruston Lions Club project for the past two years. The jamboree this year marks the third consecutive year that the local Lions organization has sponsored the project for the benefit of its many civic activities, including aid to underprivileged children, sight conservation and the blind, scouting activities for both boys and girls and a variety of other civic duties.

Pre-jamboree activities are scheduled to get under way in the Louisiana Tech stadium at 6:30 p.m., beginning with the presentation featuring visiting bands in uniform. Six jamboree queens, representing the participating high school teams, will be presented to the crowd, and will occupy a special box on the sidelines during the contests. The principals of the high schools represented will be honored guests, together with their wives, and will occupy a box in the west stadium.

President Jimmy Mize has indicated that a number of dignitaries have been invited to occupy the president's box as guests of the Ruston Lions Club. Those invited to attend, together with their wives, are Governor Robert Kennon; Lieutenant-Governor C. E. "Cap" Barham; State Senator James Hinton; State Representative L. D. "Buddy" Napper; Ralph L. Ropp, president of Louisiana Tech, Raymond Heard, president of the state Board of Education; Fred Preaus, president of the Tech Alumni Federation and chairman of the Louisiana Highway Commission; Miss Gail Gleason, recently named as "Miss Louisiana of 1954;" Miss Linda Thompson, "Miss Holiday in Dixie of 1954;" and Miss Jan Johnston, "Queen Dixie Gem IV" of the 1954 Louisiana Peach Festival. All of the three queens just mentioned are students at Louisiana Tech.

Tickets for the football jamboree were put on sale this week in Ruston. Prices for the grid attraction are $2 for box seats, $1.50 for reserved seats, $1 for general admission, and 50 cents for students. Tickets are available from members of the Ruston Lions Club, from local business establishments, and directly from the Ruston Lions Club by mail, if the mail order is accompanied by payment for tickets ordered.

Bannister, Landy In Miracle Mile With Six Others

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug 6 (AP)—Roger Bannister, Johny Landy and six other galloping guys will run tomorrow in the "miracle mile" of the British Empire Games and for about 4 minutes the whole athletic world will be tuned to Vancouver with eyes, ears and heart.

It is doubtful that either of the globe's two greatest milers will shade 4 minutes, but a capacity crowd of 35,000 is sure to jam Empire Stadium to see the historic duel.

Australia's John Landy said after the preliminaries Thursday the newly constructed track was a bit loose and somewhat pitted. Bannister, the English interne whose 3:59.4 was the first shattering of the 4 minute mark, said he enjoyed the workout.

They'll be racing each other tomorrow—not the clock.

Both placed third in their heats, in comfortable time. Landy let Bill Baillie of New Zealand and Vic Milligan of Northern Ireland slip by. All three were timed in 4:11.4, a far cry and loud whistle from the 3:58 that Landy ran in May at Turku, Finland.

The fans hereabouts gave their hearts to Murray Halberg of New Zealand, when he won the first in 4:0.4.4. The Auckland school teacher, whose left arm is withered from a boyhood accident in a soccer game, may have as many boosters as the two great men, themselves.

Right at his heels was Rich Ferguson of Toronto, Canada, and the University of Iowa. He was clocked at 4:07.8 and then came Bannister, running easily, in 4:08.4.

Rounding out the field of eight will be the fourth-placers from each preliminary heat, David Law and Ian Boyd of England. Law trailed Bannister in 4:08.8 and Boyd followed Landy across the line in 4:11.6.

Television cameras will be on them when they line up at 3:30 P.M. (CST)

Landy is expected to set his own pace, with a fast third lap. Bannister is likely to hang close for three laps and then try to whip the Australian with a terrific finishing spurt.

Harold Johnson At 175 Pounds 'Fit For Moore'

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Challenger Harold Johnson of Philadelphia weighed exactly 175 pounds—the division limit—today when he was examined by Dr. Vincent Nardiello.

Nardiello, physician for the New York State Athletics commission said the 26-year-old, who meets Archie Moore in a light heavyweight title fight next Wednesday, was "fit and ready to fight tonight."

Unlike Moore, who refused to permit Nardiello to weigh him two days ago, Johnson readily stepped on the scales when the doctor asked to take his weight. He has no weight problems, being a natural light heavy.

At Summil, N. J., Moore boxed two rounds with Frankie Daniels of Los Angeles. The 37-year-old champion declined once again to say what he weighed. He was 14½ pounds over the division limit June 7 when he stopped Bert Whitehurst in six rounds.

Don't Get Excited Over This Bidding

Don't take the bidding of today's hand too seriously. It is given as though it actually happened by Pierre Albarran in his latest book, "One Hundred Extraordinary Hands," but I'm inclined to believe that the hand is more extraordinary than real.

The bidding is only a means of getting South into the fairly reasonable contract of three no-trump. This contract is defeated only when East appears to be taken with a fit of madness.

3 ♣	Double	Pass	3 ♦

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ A

West opens the ace of clubs, and East throws away his ace of diamonds. West continues with the queen of clubs, dummy plays the king, and East now throws away the ace of spades.

After this remarkable series of plays, South can take two high spades, three high hearts, one high diamond and a club. As soon as South tries to develop either the spades or the diamonds, West will gain the lead and defeat the contract with his long clubs.

East's mad plays are, of course, necessary to defeat the contract. If East keeps the ace of diamonds, South can lead a diamond from the dummy towards his king. East can win one diamond trick with the ace, but then South's king will clear up the rest of the suit. South will therefore make enough diamond tricks to guarantee the contract.

The effect of throwing away the ace of diamonds is to transfer the defenders' only diamond trick to West. The ace of diamonds is dead, but the queen of diamonds lives on.

This unusual play is still not enough to defeat the contract. Declarer can lead spades towards his hand, giving up one trick to the ace whenever East wants to take it. This shuts West out and gives South enough spade tricks to guarantee the contract.

East defeats this plan by throwing away his ace of spades. The defense is still sure of one and only one spade trick, but now it is West who wins that trick with the jack instead of East with the ace.

My suspicious nature prevents me from believing this hand ever took place, but I must compliment Mr. Albarran on his lively imagination.

CARD Sense

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Heart	Double	Redbl.	1 Spade

You, South, hold: Spade 7 Hearts A-K-J-6-3-2, Diamonds 4-3-2, Clubs A-3-2. What do you do?

T—Bid two hearts. This may be your only cheap chance to show that you have a good heart suit. Your unwillingness to pass the spade bid around to your partner indicates also that you have poor defense against spades and a near-minimum opening bid.

Today's Question

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-3-2, Hearts A-K-J-6-3-2, Diamonds 4-3-2, Club 7. What do you do?

Lawyer Denied Federal Parole

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 —UP— The Federal Parole Board Friday denied the parole application of Vincent Hallinan, San Francisco lawyer who was the 1952 presidential candidate of the Progressive party.

Hallinan once was the attorney for West Coast labor leader Harry Bridges. He is now serving a prison term of 18 months at the federal penitentiary on McNeil Island, Wash., on an income tax evasion conviction.

Hallinan began serving his term on Jan. 7 and became eligible for parole on July 6. Besides the prison term, Hallinan was also ordered to pay a $50,000 fine.

If he pays the fine, Hallinan will be eligible for release on March 20, 1955.

Kefauver's Victory In Tennessee Primary Likely To Have Repercussions

NSHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 6—UP—Sen. Estes Kefauver, easy winner of a new term, pledged Friday to work for the "average man" at home and peace throughout the world without mentioning any future presidential aspirations.

But the Tennessee Democrat's victory by more than 200,000 votes over Rep. Pat Sutton in Thursday's Democratic primary was almost certain to place him back in the political limelight on a national scale for 1956.

The drawling Tennesseean led through two ballots at the 1952 Democratic national convention before Adlai Stevenson got the nod.

Kefauver himself called the election proof that Tennesseeans believe "if all is well with the average man, all will be well with America."

"We have shown it in the past — in the great majorities we always gave Franklin Delano Roosevelt — and we have shown it again..."he said.

Surging to a smashing victory with Kefauver was Gov. Frank Clement, nominated for a second successive term double the length of his expiring two-year one.

Returns from 2,279 of the state's 2,501 precincts gave Kefauver 363,255 votes to Sutton's 156,068 and Clement 422,610 to 175,978 for former Gov. Gordon Browning.

A Republican who, like Kefauver, vision was nominated to oppose the Tennessee crime-buster in the November election. But Ray Jenkins, who served as special counsel for the Senate investigations subcommittee in the Army-McCarthy hearings, reiterated that he would not run.

Drouth-Aid Loans Available Soon

WASHINGTON, August 6 (Special)—Loans for purchase of irrigation equipment will be available soon to farmers in drouth-stricken northeast Louisiana, U. S. Senator Russell B. Long (D-La) said today.

The senator said that he had been assured by the Farmers Home Administration that it will begin making the loans as soon as Congress completes legislation broadening the Water Facilities Act and appropriates necessary funds.

Both houses this week voted legislation extending the loan program, which under the 1937 water facilities act covered only 17 western states designated as arid or semi-arid. In the new bill now awaiting President Eisenhower's signature, the program will include all 48 states.

Still under consideration by Congress, however, is legislation providing supplemental appropriations for the new loan program. The Senate version of the bill provides $5-million for non-aid states.

Senator Long expressed particular concern about getting the loan program under way as soon as possible in the parched farm belt extending from Sicily Island west to Natchitoches.

The Bitterness Of Poor Quality KILLS THE SWEETNESS OF LOW PRICE This We Believe

IN THIS ERA of fancy claims about down payment gimmicks and big sales, we wish to go on record and state that no misleading tactics are used by our firm.

OUR SUCCESS is built upon the principle of treating every customer as we would want to be treated. All our cars are reconditioned and inspected by experts to assure you of a sound car mechanically and appearance-wise. The sale price of our cars is in line with the quality of the merchandise. Seldom do we ever get a complaint on the sale of one of our new car trade-ins.

TRULY we take a personal interest in all our customers and feel by giving sincere service to everybody, we make more friends. It is not unusual for a customer to bring his friends and relatives, knowing they will be treated fairly and squarely. Our business is negotiated with a feeling of true friendship.

WHEN BUYING your next car, see us, get a BETTER used car and join our club of happy owners . . . you'll never regret it.
